SALES CONTEST

The sales contest is separate from the VXMadness event.

You can run the sales contest, even if you're not sure you can make the event.

Ask your VXSuite Channel Manager about the Sweet 16, Elite 8, Final Four and Championship Levels!

All you have to do is introduce your customers to VXSuite. Here's how:

- Do a demo of any VXSuite module.
- If we do the demo with you, we'll enter the name of the sales rep into our drawing once for each module we show.
- We'll also enter your prospect into a drawing where they can win a trip to Las Vegas.
- Turn in a PO for a VXSuite Module and get 5 entries per customer per module.
- If you do the demo, just email us the name of the sales rep, the name of the prospect, the date and the modules they saw. We'll enter both into the drawings.

What is VXMadness?

This is a three-day training course that will include both a technical and sales track. We'll be focusing on using VXSuite to build your managed service. Guest speakers will help you see why managed services are important and will help you determine how VXSuite is an integral part of that. There's not a better time to learn than at a conference that combines VXSuite and the fun of the NCAA Tournament. We will have some fun around the basketball games plus contests and prizes. Ask your Channel Manager for more info.

Here's the fine print. The Grand Prizes will be awarded on March 20th, 2014 at the Awards Luncheon at 12:00 PM Pacific Time at the LVM, Inc. "VXMadness" event, located at 15 Via Bel Canto, Henderson, NV 89011. Partner Winner must be present to win or be available to say hello via a Lync Conference. If a winner is unavailable for prize fulfillment, an alternate winner may be selected by LVM, Inc. If LVM, Inc. cannot find an eligible winner for a prize, that prize will not be awarded. Prizes are non-transferable and no substitutions will be made. End User does not need to be present to win. If the end user is unavailable for prize fulfillment, an alternate winner may be selected by LVM, Inc. If LVM, Inc. cannot find an eligible winner for a prize, that prize will not be awarded.
